not surrender until fifteen months after Appomattox. The story is that on the morning of Fourth of July, 1866, the Secretary of War, who had planned a fishing excursion to the falls of the Petomac, received a telegram from the Provost Marshal at Richmond saying that a squad of Confederate soldiers were at his office
ready to deliver up their arms and be ammested.

Knowing that joking of that sort would subject the perpetrator to court-martial the Secretary hastened to the White House o consult with President Johnson. The esult was a telegram to the Provost Mar-

I met her on the Newport strand,
When skies were soft and blue,
And led her by the lily hand

The rolling sea into.
We watched the moon screnely food
The waves with airy pearl,
And she was mine, the blushing bud—
That is, my summer girl.

She sent her card when back in town-She sent her card want once the My heart was full of song.
When in her Japanese tea gown
She poured the sweet Oolong.
And when October dyed the wood,
And when the leaflets curl,
She then was mine, though not for good—
She was my autumn girl.

When winter came in orders gray, And snow began to fall, I took her to the matinee And to the charity ball.

In ecstasy, to music gay,
About the room we'd whirl,
And she was mine—that is to say,
She was my winter girl. And when the spring, all gold and green,

And when the spring as a
Hung rose on the tree,
I met her at St. Augustine—
Once more beside the sea.
We watched suggestive orange blossoms
Along the broczes swirt;
She was amid these spring perfumes
My ownest—spring-time girl.

Oh, still she is my girl when spring
Is rich with flower and bird.
And when the summer's on the wing.
Autumn's wall is heard.
And when old enarling Winter his
White banner doth unfur!,
For keeps, to tell the truth, she is
My all-the year-round girl.

TRUSTEE'S AUCTION SALE OF THAT MAGNIFICENT JAMES PIVER ESTATE

KNOWN AS BELMEAD, LOCATED IN POWHATAN COUNTY, VA., CONTAINING 1640 ACRES, MORE OR LESS, WITH SPLENDID DWELLING AND OTHER BUILDINGS,

WHICH ORIGINALLY COST ABOUT $75,000

By virtue of a deed of trust from John B. Cocke and wife, dated May 30, 1887, recorded in Pomhatan County Court in Deed-Book 25, pages 252, 253, and 254, to R. B. Chatin and Lewis Booker, trustees, the undersigned will sell (Mr. Lewis Booker declining to act), by public auction, at Powhatan Courthouse, on SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1891, at 1 o'clock, P. M., this fine James river farm, described in said deed as follows: All that cer-tain PARCEL OR TRACT OF LAND, together with all the buildings and improvements theredescribed it said deed as follows: All that certain PARCEL OR TRACT OF LAND, together with all the buildings and improvements therefore, rights, ways, and appurtenances thereto belonging, lying and being in the county of Powhaian, State of Virginia, known as "Beimead" containing 1,640 ACRES, more or less, bounded on the north by James river, on the east by Deep creek, on the south by the public road known as the River road, and on the west by the property of Eanes, Soott, and others, and was inherited by said John B. Occke from his father, General Philip St. George Cocke.

The buildings on this estate are said to be the most costly in Virginia. The late General P. St. George Cocke is said to have spent $75,000 in the construction of the dwelling, the most costly on any farm in Virginia, which is located on a commanding hill that overlooks the valley of the James for miles, with the James-River division of the Chesapeake and Ohlo ralirond in full view for a long distance, and the depot, Rock Castle, just across the river from the farm, is reached by a rope ferry. The outbuildings are many and costly, of stone and frame, covered with slate. There is also a two-story stone mill on the property.

slate. There is also a two-story stone mill on the property.

For a city gentleman or any man of means no farm in Virginia presents a finer field for a safe investment, and for a stock-farm it is a first-class investment. To a merchant desiring an elegant home: Belmead' is unsurpassed, located in a section proverbial for health and the view is beautiful beyond expression.

Therest cash to cover expenses of sale and debts due as follows: $447.12, with interest from November 30, 1880, and $15,351.12 with interest from Movember 30, 1880, and the balance on terms to be announced at the time of sale.
